

Data Collections & Hosted Review

Challenges

- Client had to collect data for 71 custodians in two states then review and produce in just 5 days
- Production required all copies of responsive documents
- Legal team brought in over 40 contract reviewers and needed an application that was intuitive and fast

Inventus Solution

- Designed a workflow that included collections personnel onsite in hours and Clearwell as the hosting platform

Client Benefits

- Clearwell enabled us to index data quickly and immediately begin the review
- The intuitive interface allowed the contract reviewers to get up to speed very quickly and identify relevant documents in time to make the production deadline

Client: AmLaw 100 firm representing one of the largest Consulting/Insurance companies in the U.S.

The Challenge: The Client had an immediate need for data collections, processing and hosted review. We received a call at noon on a Wednesday requesting that we collect emails and loose files for 71 custodians in two states the process and deliver into a review platform asap with a production deadline of the following Monday at 5 pm CST.

The Solution: Inventus was able to deploy a collection team that afternoon and had staff onsite by 3pm CST. The collections were completed overnight and the data was in-house and ready for review early the following morning.

Given the need for speed (both processing and review), Inventus recommended our Clearwell platform for the case team. We are able to ingest over 200GB/day and the user interface is very intuitive for the end users. Moreover, the review team can begin reviewing documents immediately while the data is indexing – teams don't have to wait for the entire collection to be ingested. This enabled our client to begin their review by mid-morning, less than 24 hours after the initial phone call.

The Inventus Review Solutions team setup the database and trained all 40 users on Thursday morning and the review was in full swing by midday. The Inventus Project Management team assisted the Client in developing workflow tailored to the data set as more was learned along the way. After some long hours over the weekend, Inventus received the production specs late on Sunday night and began the production phase late that evening. With massive production capacity, we were able to deliver a full production set of Tiffs to the opposing party by 4pm CST on Monday – hitting our client deadline with room to spare.

In the end, we were able to take a major client through the entire EDRM lifecycle in just 5 days with over 70 custodians!

For more info about this case study or information about our solutions: discoverysolutions@inventus.com